DESERTERS TO RETURN UNDER AMNESTY ACT

French Government Allows Return of Deserters.

NUMBERED IN DEAD

Passage of Bill Brings General Resurrection Men Thought Dead in the World War.

Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The amnesty bill just passed by the Chamber of Deputies is expected in some quarters to result in a general resurrection of French soldiers who had passed into history as "killed on the field of battle."

Already, though the senate has still to pass on the measure, deserters are crossing the frontier and breathing the air of France for the first time in six years or more. One of them a soldier named Robin, given up for dead after the battle of the Chemin des Dames in April, 1917, started his brother, who keeps a wine shop in Paris, by suddenly appearing before him the other day.

"You don't know me," remarked the deserter, who had grown a beard during his exile.

"No, I don't know you," was the answer. "I am your brother," replied the deserter.

"My brother was killed at the Chemin des Dames," was the rejoinder.

"No," insisted the deserter, "there were not so many butchers as was supposed. A lot of them deserted to the enemy and I was among them. Now that the Chamber has passed the amnesty law, I have come back and I need money to start me off."

The brother agreed to give him funds on condition that he never show his face in the neighborhood again.

The deserter walked off with the money to celebrate his return at a public ball in the Boulevard de Grenelle. There he picked a quarrel and within half an hour was carried out with a fatal stab in the abdomen.

Another deserter who was also among the "missing" of the Chemin des Dames battle turned up at his father's farm in the Morbihan department. A neighbor who happened to be present remarked that he was not yet safe, as the senate had not yet adopted the amnesty law. The deserter, angered by this interference, cried, "You'd be capable of denouncing me," drew a knife and plunged it into the neighbor's breast. This deserter is now again a fugitive from justice.

More than 1,200 French deserters, living in Geneva, where they have formed a "Friendly Association of Deserters," are preparing to come back in a body. Other Swiss towns shelter as many if not more, and there are supposed to be a great many still in Germany.

STATE SOLDIERS TO BE INSURED

National Guardsmen of Kentucky Will Draw Compensation for Disability.

Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 26.—National Guardsmen of Kentucky are to be insured against total disability or death under group policies of from $2,000 to $5,000, depending upon rank. Adjutant General Kehoe announced today.

The insurance will be effective immediately after the guardsmen return home from Camp Knox. Under existing conditions guardsmen disabled in the line of duty have no possibility for hospitalization or compensation except when actually encamped, the adjutant general asserted.

The burden of possible compensation is removed from the commonwealth under the new arrangement. General Kehoe declared.

RARE PAINTING IS INCLUDED IN SALE

"Fort Whitley" Picture and Other Portraits May Be Lost to Society.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 26.—The Kentucky State Historical Society stands to lose one of the most valuable portraits in its possession, if the Whitley heirs dispose of the estate of Col. William Whitley, famous Kentucky pioneer, include it in the sale of "Fort Whitley," William E. Bailey, curator of the society, said today.

The portrait is that of Col. Whitley, who was killed in the battle of the River Thames in 1813. It was loaned to the society some years ago and has been the object of much interest to visitors to the Old Capitol, now used by the society as a museum.

Mrs. James W. Crutcher, present owner of the famous Lincoln county estate, on which Col. Whitley built what probably was the first brick dwelling in Kentucky, has announced her intention of disposing of the estate and the historic relics belong to it, including the portrait. The Whitley Fort association has recently been organized for the purpose of purchasing the old mansion and presenting it to the state.

The bricks used in constructing the "fort" were carried on pack horses across the mountains from Virginia. The windows were built so high that the Indians, who were hotly contesting the right of the "pale face" to the land in Kentucky, could not see into them.

TUG FOUNDERED IN SEA STORM

High Winds on Virginia Coast Result in Inundation of Many Villages.

Associated Press.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 26.—The tug, Mildred McNally, of Philadelphia, was sunk at Pamlico Sound last night when caught in a hurricane which swept the Virginia and North Carolina coasts.

The tropical storm is a northeasterly course today. Numerous ships were driven to shelter. The wind reached a velocity of sixty miles per hour on the coast, driving the waters into a number of villages and partially inundating them but no loss of life has been reported.

CONVENTION WILL BAR SET SPEECHES

Gathering Clothiers Will Be Almost Speechless—New York, September 8.

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—An almost speechless convention has been planned for the eleventh annual gathering of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furriers, which meets in Grand Central Palace, New York, the week of Sept. 8, according to announcement at association headquarters here.

There will be no set speeches except at the opening when Mayor Hylan will give an address of welcome, but there will be a clothing cap it in, directors say, that will speak for them.

Every dealer, however, will be given a opportunity of expressing his own, as well as the views of other members, on a "robin's" of the business. In this way it is hoped to give the members greater value than formal addresses would afford.

The program provides the discussion of store management and the "Dress Well and Succeed" campaign which has been in progress. Besides this the entire time of the convention will be given over to the discussion of whatever matters the retailers desire.

Over three hundred manufacturers from all parts of America will participate in the exposition which will occupy two floors of the palace. There will be no set style show but the exposition will show style tendencies of all types of material, including knit goods demonstrated by living models.

The "Dress Well and Succeed" campaign will be stressed. Already over 2,500 retail clothing merchants throughout the country are using the slogan and a co-operative advertising plan has been developed. Wherever the campaign is started, it will include five to seven full pages of newspaper space, illustrating merchandising ideas. In addition there will be 48 quarter pages built on "Dress Well and Succeed," each bearing some specific point to show the influence clothing has on business and social success.

President Roswell S. George, Watertown, N. Y., has been active in the preliminary work of the convention. Speaking before the Ohio State Democratic convention at Columbus today, he will define more sharply these issues on which he finds the democratic and republican parties divided and will lay particular stress on the subject of honesty in government.

After his address to the convention, Mr. Davis will visit the state fair grounds where he plans to make an informal talk. He will leave Columbus this evening for New York to prepare for the first long speaking tour of his campaign.

Leaving New York next Sunday the democratic nominee will make his first stop at Wheeling, W. Va., for his Labor Day address before the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly. From Wheeling he'll go to Chicago and establish there temporary headquarters for his first western trip. His plans now are to speak in Nebraska, the home state of Charles Bryan, and then carry his fight into Colorado and Iowa. Before returning eastward he may speak in Kansas and Missouri.

Tent Disturbance Results in Fine and Jail Sentence

Disturbance at the tent on Cumberland avenue last night resulted in a fine and jail sentence for Bruce Hill, charged with breach of peace in police court this morning. The defendant will appeal the verdict to the circuit court.

The trouble was between Mr. Hill and John Mosley, according to witnesses. Capt. F. J. Steinhour, M. L. Hill, Arthur Patterson and others testified for the prosecution; the defendant and W. A. Gastinea were placed on the stand for the defense. Mr. Mosley and Mr. Jackson, the latter the preacher at the tent meetings, were called for by the prosecution but did not appear.

The witnesses on both sides gave virtually the same testimony. They stated that Bruce Hill came to the tent asking for the preacher. John Mosley asked him what he wanted to see the preacher about and Mr. Hill stated that he wanted to inform Mr. Jackson that he had no intention of harming him as had been reported. This led to more talk between the men in which Mr. Hill is said to have mentioned Mr. Mosley's daughter.

The defendant stated that both of them used abusive language but that he himself had said harsher things than did Mosley. There was no fight nor apparently no attempts to fight, though the matter created a disturbance among the 400 or 500 people present, including women and children. Mr. Hill was placed under arrest by officers and incarcerated in the city jail. Mr. Jackson was not present during the disturbance.

City Judge C. A. Woods imposed a fine of $54.25 and a jail sentence of ten days on the defendant. I. G. Leabow represented the defendant while City Prosecutor L. K. Rice represented the city.

Mr. Jones graduated from L. M. U. some time ago and later was head of the science department in the university. After leaving Harrogate he went to the Fort Lewis school, Hesperus, where he was a teacher. He leaves a large circle of friends here and in East Tennessee to mourn his death.

His sister, Miss Margaret Jones, and his father are leaving tonight to meet the body which is now en route from Colorado, accompanied by Mrs. Jones, his mother, who has been with him in Colorado.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced except that the remains will be interred at Harrogate.

DAVIS EN ROUTE TO CONVENTION

Democratic Candidate Still Refuses to Comment on Declaration of Dawes.

ON BOARD THE ST. LOUISIANA AT PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—John W. Davis, the democratic standard bearer, was speeding toward middle west last night to make his first appeal to voters of that section in his campaign for the presidency.

Speaking before the Ohio State Democratic convention at Columbus today, he will define more sharply these issues on which he finds the democratic and republican parties divided and will lay particular stress on the subject of honesty in government.

CONGRESSMEN FIGHT

Thomas, Democrat, Struck by Baker, Republican

Associated Press.

CENTRAL CITY, Aug. 26.—Congressman H. Y. Thomas, Democrat, was felled by a blow by George Baker, Republican candidate for Congress of this district, during an argument here today on the side-walk, according to witnesses who assisted Thomas as to a nearby drug store.

The argument arose during a conversation in which Thomas is alleged to have made discourteous remarks to which Baker retorted with his fist, witnesses said. Thomas is not seriously hurt.

COOLIDGE, DAWES TALK POLITICS

Conference at Plymouth Between President and Running Mate Yesterday.

Associated Press.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 26.—Charles G. Dawes, republican vice presidential candidate, visited for two hours yesterday with President Coolidge at his father's home here discussing politics, government business—particularly the agricultural situation—European conditions and posing with his host for a battalion of photographers.

For the last fifteen minutes he talked with newspaper men in the temporary business office over the general store, telling them "in so many words" why he came, what he talked about with the president and why he wouldn't discuss the reparations question or the political outlook.

Placing his pipe to one side of his mouth as he entered the crudely arranged office, followed by more than a score of correspondents, Mr. Dawes turned suddenly and, before a question could be put to him, banded his fist on the table and said:

"First, we did not discuss the Ku Klux Klan question."

"Second, we did discuss the question of agriculture and more particularly the personnel of the commission which the president expects to appoint to investigate agricultural conditions. That's why I came here."

As questions were shot at him from all sides, the nominee puffed vigorously on his briar, replying smilingly with "ask the president," "wait until I get on the stump again," "I don't know, I'm no politician," and "I have not been criticized so far for not saying enough."

Finally pressed for a statement on the Klan situation and the reaction to his speech at Augusta in which he announced opposition to the Klan, Mr. Dawes declared emphatically: "There can be no reaction to the right which is not a right reaction."

Then jumping from his seat and sweeping his hands out, he added: "Regardless of what any politician may say about it."

After his newspaper conference, Mr. Dawes returned and said goodbye to the president and his family. Mr. Dawes drove to Rutland, from where he goes to Chicago.

WOMEN'S TENT TO BE FAIR FEATURE

Women's Tent to Be Place Where All Women Visitors May Rest.

Aside from the display of their own handiwork, probably nothing at the Twenty-second Kentucky State Fair, which swings wide its gates September 8th, will have such an appeal for the women visitors as the Women's Tent. This will be "pitched" directly opposite the Merchants and Manufacturer's building, and will be in charge of Mrs. George T. Settle, as chairman, and Miss Helen Morri, vice chairman.

The Women's Tent does not house an exhibition nor does it attempt to exploit the beauties or benefits of this or that piece of personal adornment, facial cream, or household labor saving device. On the contrary, it is the one place where the women from the mountains, the Bluegrass, the Purchase and the "Penny" will be urged to forget entirely about fairs, and farms and families, and simply relax and be entertained.

Under the direction of Mrs. Settle and Mr. Frederick J. Corl, who is chairman of the Fair, the tent will be a place of comfort, where the women may rest and keep cool, protected from the sun's rays and played upon by breezes from numerous electric fans. The tent is 60x10 feet and each day will have some prominent local woman in charge.

Particular interest is centered in Tuesday, the second day of the fair, which is "Woman's Day." Mrs. Geo. H. Webb, governor of Scotland, will be able to see it at sunset. In the middle of the Atlantic it will be visible at noon.

Another total eclipse will take place January 14, 1926. This will start in Africa, crossing the Indian Ocean and the Island of Sumatra in the Dutch East Indies, and the lower islands of the Philippines, Japan, and that is the end.

TOTAL ECLIPSE SUN JANUARY 24

No Total Eclipse This Year—To Start at Sunrise—Another January, 1926.

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—While no total eclipses of the sun are listed for this year, one of the best opportunities for observing a total sunset of Old Sol's face will be afforded the eastern part of the country early in the coming year, officials at the United States Naval Observatory here say.

On January 24, 1925, the sun will be in total eclipse. This will start at sunrise just beyond Lake Superior. Its path will be on into New York state and lower New England; Eastern New York and southern New England will be the best positions for observations. Vessels in the Atlantic Ocean north of Scotland will be able to see it at sunset. In the middle of the Atlantic it will be visible at noon.

DEFENSE RESTS IN CASE YOUNG SLAYERS TODAY

Crowe Demands the Death Penalty for Boy Murderers.

HAS NO PRECEDENT

Bachrach Says Decision Will Be Precedent for Future—Crowe Begins His Attack.

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The legal battle to save Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb from the gallows ended today, the state once more resuming the offensive before Judge Caverly in its endeavor to secure the death penalty for the murder of Robert Franks.

Benjamin Bachrach, long time friend of the Loeb family, completed the defense argument with another attack made on the examinations by the state alienists who concluded the youths were mentally normal.

He appealed to the court to consider that present case was entirely without precedent in American history, that the decision will mark the path for the future. Special peculiarities of the case, he insisted, were the age of the defendants; their nature and mental disability.

Demanding the death penalty for these two poor sons of multimillionaires, Attorney Robert Crowe launched a vigorous attack upon the plea for mercy.

He spoke ironically of his "tour through the nursery with the defense alienists" and of his "education in bedtime stories," in "bad signs" which surrounded the defendants. Neither the state's attorney nor the court has the right to be lenient above the letter of the law, Crowe declared.

Advocates Flogging As Cure for Crimes

Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—As an outgrowth of an epidemic of lawlessness that in recent weeks took the form of almost daily armed robberies in dwellings and on the streets, the police of Shanghai's International Settlement again are vigorously advocating flogging as a punishment for offenders.

As a rule armed robbers, convicted in Shanghai's Mixed Court, are sentenced to death and are shot after being turned over to the Chinese authorities. The foreign police contend that Chinese criminals fear this punishment less than they do corporal punishment, which they assert will deter many criminals inclined from being caught with weapons in their possession.

The Chinese press in Shanghai generally voices opposition to any return to the use of the lamppost.

A HOME MARKET NEEDED.

Without industrial prosperity there can be no broad agricultural prosperity—the former is also absolutely dependent upon the latter.

Without a home market, diversified farming on a profitable basis is impossible, except here and there and to a limited extent.

If the farmer who raises, or attempts to raise, a wide variety of farm products cannot find a market at home, to some extent at least, for his chickens and his eggs and his butter and his milk and his fruits, he is necessarily hampered and his profits are dependent upon shipment to distant points, subject to all the vicissitudes of the freight rates and transportation, and commission merchants at the other end of the line. This is why we have the one-crop cotton system in parts of the South, and the one-crop wheat system in part of the West.

Moreover, without industrial prosperity a still more important market is denied to the farmer and that is a market at home for the brains and brawn of his children.

In the South, especially, thousands of young men and women, college graduates and others, find it necessary to seek employment in other sections because industrial development there has not progressed far enough to give all of them employment at home.

Constant stress is laid upon selling cotton at little or no actual profit, but how small is the loss of this in comparison with the loss of the brains and brawn of the young men who, having been raised and educated in the South, are almost literally forced out of this section by reason of the lack of a home market for their work, the South giving them, after the expense of raising them, to the development of other sections!

Until the South develops its industrial interests in keeping with the extent of its agriculture it can never create this home market for its young people and it can never create this industrial development except through a protective tariff.

Every denunciation of a tariff in the South makes it the more difficult to create the industries, without which the farmer cannot find a home market for his agricultural products or a home market for his sons and daughters. It is supremely necessary, therefore, for the welfare of the young people of the South, as well as for the general agricultural prosperity, that the energy of this section be concentrated upon favoring a tariff which will upbuild its industrial interests and thus make a prosperous and a profitable home market for its young men and its young women as well as for its diversified agricultural production.

All of the original hearings on tax rates have been completed, and the final assessments sent out in many cases, according to Mr. Marshall. Several organizations and individuals already have requested a re-hearing.

MRS. JEANNETTE A. HYDE.

MRS. ALVIN T. HERT.

MRS. BARCLAY H. WARBURTON.

The vote of young women will be a telling factor in the coming election. The intelligent interest which this group is showing in the campaign will be a most significant power, according to Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, who is in charge of women's activities for this campaign, in a statement issued at the opening of Women's National Headquarters on the second floor of the Wrisley building in Chicago.

"The Republican women of this country are organizing to get out an unprecedented vote for President Coolidge and General Hayes,"

Mrs. Hert said. "While we realize that the first task of women is to bring an inspirational value to political activities, we are working to perfect an organization which will have as its keynote real business efficiency. Reports from the West and Northwest indicate that work is progressing steadily among the women. Eastern headquarters have been opened in New York City. Mrs. Charles H. Sablin, national committeewoman from New York, is in charge of the women's division of the East.

"This is the year of opportunity and responsibility for the women of this country. Every effort will be made by the women to get out the vote. We wield our greatest power through constructive organization. Women can use the vote to work for the common good in church, school, home and civic enterprise. This year will show how definite a place women are taking in the affairs of the nation."

Pictured with Mrs. Hert above are two of the prominent women who will take an active part in the campaign. Mrs. Jeannette A. Hyde of Utah, and Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton of Pennsylvania, members of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

Washington — That intangible, mythical something that does the foot-steps of Coolidge, that eerie influence which seems to give him all the "breaks" and for want of a better description has been designated as "Coolidge Luck," is getting on the nerves of the Democrats.

"They were talking it over the other day up at Democratic headquarters. What could be done about it? Wasn't there some way by which the franks of fate which seem always to play into 'Coolidge's' hands could be blocked?"

After these speculations had proceeded fruitlessly for half an hour, one of the leaders, accepting as futile any effort to identify and waylay or kidnap the "Coolidge" good luck charm, he exclaimed: "Aw—what's the use, chewing over 'Coolidge's' luck? That doesn't get us anywhere. What we've got to do is find out what can help Davis. What does he need most?"

"I'll tell you," came the quick answer, "He needs a rabbit's foot."

Well it's finally found, not the rabbit's foot but perhaps the best available substitute for it, the Democratic answer to the G. O. P. slogan of "Keep Cool and Keep 'Coolidge'."

Submitted by a diligent Democrat from the Republican Strong hold of Pennsylvania, the new Democratic slogan seems so similar to the old one.

ple it's a wonder everyone hadn't thought of it before. But as always, it's the simple things that are most overlooked.

Anyway, for what it's worth here it is, The Democratic antidote for "Keep Cool and Keep 'Coolidge'." is "Keep Cool and Can 'Coolidge'."

is the "silver scare" of 1896 when William J. Bryan made his first race for the presidency, to be revived in this year of 1924 when Bill's brother, Charles, is carrying the vice presidential end of the Democratic kite?

Folks down east sent some such political connection in the action of the Treasury Department in putting back into circulation several millions of the huge and heavy old "cart-wheel" silver dollars which have lain for years deep down in the treasury vaults.

Through the west silver dollars never have lost favor as a circulating medium. Any kind of dollars there have been most welcome.

But down east, where trousers are held up by belts instead of suspenders, hard cold cash is a handicap. It's too heavy, causes an unsightly sag at the waist line and a disagreeable weight in the pocket.

Largely because of this physical objection to them, cart-wheel dollars have been almost unknown hereabouts for years. Crisp new paper dollars, or even paper dollars not crisp and new, have been preferred and provided. Silver dollars east of the Alleghenies The few that did rub up from time to time, brought in by visitors from the west, were regarded as curiosities.

Now however, right on the eve of Charles Bryan's nomination, the east is deluged with silver dollars.

Immediately the silver campaign of the older Bryan is recalled. The east, which didn't like that campaign any better than it likes silver dollars, at once "smells a mouse."

"Humph! Bryan and silver! We don't like silver, therefore."

Either somebody in the treasury is mighty fox, or else he pulled the meanest accident in political psychology the nation ever knew.

PLAN MEETING OF WESTERN LIBRARY

Methods of Combating Illiteracy to Be Discussed at New Mexico Meeting.

Associated Press.

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. — Cultural development of Southwestern United States, the peculiar influence of ancient Indian civilizations on that culture and the relation of the modern library to it, are to be explored at the second biennial conference of the Southwestern Library association here August 28-30. The conference will have an international aspect through the presence of Mexican library officials and by the fact that Mexico is a member of the association. Other member states are: New Mexico, Arizona, Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

The Mexican department of education, division of libraries will be represented either by Jaime Fones Bodel or Rafael Heliadora Valle, association officials have been informed.

One of the greatest problems of the Southwest, that of illiteracy especially among its foreign groups, confronts the librarian, according to Miss Elizabeth H. West, Texas state librarian, president of the association. It is an even greater problem here, she said, than in the Eastern states, because of the great stretches of sparsely settled country and the slower development of schools and wealth.

The afternoon of the first day is to be turned over to the state symposium on fighting illiteracy, especially with reference to the library's responsibility to the illiterate.

Awakening of the people of the Southwest to a realization of their own peculiar culture, their art, and their literature, especially their archeology and folk lore is to be stressed. There are to be addresses on the Southwest a thousand years ago, by Dr. Edgar L. Hewett of Santa Fe, one of the greatest of Southwestern archeologists; the New Mexican tradition in Southwestern literature by Mrs. Alice Corbin Henderson, author of "Red Earth," and on some aspects of literature with special emphasis on literature in the Southwest.

There is One Beautiful Feature About This Campaign

FINDS MEANS TO BEAT PROFITEER

Free State Will Lend Money to Competitors as Means Reducing Prices.

Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Aug. — The cost of living in the Free State continues to be higher than in Great Britain or in Ulster. This effects the wage question, and workers resist reductions in wages till the prices of food have been lowered.

The government has been for months pressed in the Dail to deal drastically with profiteers. The farmers complain that they are getting low prices for the foodstuffs sold at high prices in the cities and towns. Food control and fixed prices were advocated.

The government plan for reducing prices has just been announced, and will be embodied in a bill to be submitted to the Dail. It provides for competition with the profiteers by lending money to organizations willing to go into business against them. The banks are to advance the necessary capital and the state guarantees the principal and interest. The loans will be given only on condition that the recipients undertake to sell at the prices below the average retail prices.

Women Wear Socks

MOSCOW, Aug. 26.—In the interest of economy Russian women and girls have taken to wearing masculine socks. Full length silk stockings which usually are smuggled in through the Polish border are an absolute luxury and far beyond the means of the average woman. At first only girls under sixteen wore short stockings, but now women generally have adopted them.

The success of the Mexican quail distributed in Kentucky in the past few years is evidenced by the following letter from Mr. Thomas L. Noel, of Versailles, Kentucky:

"To further report to you concerning the Mexican quail I received from you in the spring of 1923, will say, that they have done many times more than could reasonably have been expected of them. Several coveys were raised and protected last year and now they have again hatched. There are by far more quail in this section than have been before in my memory. The coveys seem invulnerable. May the good work continue."

MARINES HOLD LAND MANEUVERS

More Than 3,000 in Efficiency Training in Virginia.

QUANTICO, Va., Aug. 26.—More than 3,000 marines of the Marine Corps expeditionary force, commanded by Brig. Gen. Dion Williams, moved from here to the great Marine Corps base of the Atlantic coast yesterday for the fourth annual land exercises to be held by that body. The maneuvers will culminate in battle exercises held on the Civil war battlefield of Antietam, near Sharpsburg, Md., where the efficiency developed by the marines in the year of training will be put to a severe test in carrying out military maneuvers and in the enactment of historical reproductions. The line of march from Quantico will include Washington, D. C., Gaithersburg, Ridgeville, Frederick and Sharpsburg, and the time consumed will be about 20 days, of which ten will be spent in actual marching and the remainder in camp and battle exercises.

The exercises are being undertaken with a view of testing the famed preparedness of the marines to embark on a campaign at instant notice, and in so far as possible the conditions of actual war will be reproduced. The force which will take the field under war-time conditions and will include in its equipment all the most modern weapons of present-day war. Artillery, anti-aircraft guns, automatic rifles, Stokes mortars, tanks and tractors will be represented in the marine force, while a chemical warfare company will demonstrate its specialty. Engineers will have a chance to tackle field problems of road and bridge building, and a communications company will operate radio telephone and telegraph outfits as well as the wire circuits of the other systems.

The present exercises will have to do with the solution of problems of offensive land warfare in connection with the navy. In training to carry out the mission of the Marine Corps to siege and protect advanced naval bases in case of war, the corps has conducted three land maneuvers during past years and one maneuver at sea last winter. In the present case the theory of the exercises will include the attack and destruction of an enemy land force which is menacing an American naval base which it is the duty of the marines to guard. Three such problems have been solved in past years in marine maneuvers at the Wilderness, Va., Gettysburg, Pa., and Newmarket, Va., while last winter the problem of fortifying and defending on interior lines a naval base was undertaken in connection with the fleet, at the Island of Culebra in the Caribbean sea.

The marine infantry will leave Quantico on the Potomac river by boat on Monday morning, August 27, although the motor transportation and horses of the force will leave a day earlier. On Monday afternoon the force will encamp in Potomac park, in Washington, D. C., where they will spend the night. Today the Marine column will parade through Washington and will set out on their long march, reaching the Corby estate on the Rockville turnpike, where they will camp for the night.

On Wednesday, August 27, camp will be broken and the force will march to Gaithersburg, where the third camp will be located. On Thursday the march will be from Gaithersburg to Ridgeville, and on Friday, August 29, the force will march from Ridgeville to Frederick.

On Monday, September 1, the march will be resumed to Sharpsburg, where permanent camp will be made for the duration of the maneuvers. The marines will remain in camp at Sharpsburg until Saturday, September 13, when camp will be broken for the return journey, which will be by the same route as the outbound journey. Washington will be reached on the return trip on Thursday, September 18, where elaborate ceremonies are being planned, to include a parade and review, base ball game and other features.

About 20 days will be consumed from the time of leaving Quantico until the return of the force, and a distance of more than 200 miles will be covered by the hike.

A noteworthy feature of the marine maneuvers will be the extraordinary program of physical exercises, $5,000 added; The Corington Handicap, 3-year-olds and up, 1 1-16 miles, $5,000 added; The Latonia Cup Handicap, 3-year-olds and up, 2 1-4 miles, $10,000 added; The Latonia Championship (closed), 3-year-olds, 1 3-4 miles, $15,000 added and the Queen City Handicap (closed), 2-year-olds, 1 mile, $10,000 added.

In a Polo Game

Polo is one of the Prince of Wales' favorite sports. He goes to a game every chance he has. And what is more, he plays himself.

ercises which has been prepared gram of training has been worked out by Lieut. Col. Harry Lay, secretary will make the expeditionary force the finest column since the Macedonian phalanx of Alexander the Great in an athletic sense.

Taking a leaf from the practice of the ancient Greeks, Brig. Gen. Dion Williams and Maj. Gen. Eli K. Cole of the Quantico marine force have determined upon a course of athletic training unprecedented in modern military practice and comparable to the training program of an all-around Olympic athlete. Every marine of the Quantico force will be obliged to take this training, not only the young and active, but those who are older and who have begun to accumulate excess poundage and waist line will be required to participate in the exercises and athletic sports prescribed. The program of physical exercises in vogue in any thing else.

Included in the program is the hundred-yard dash, the broad jump, high jump, running hop, step and jump, mile run, shot put, baseball throw, chaining the bar and the push-up from the ground. The radical difference between this work as prescribed for the Quantico marines and the program of physical exercises in vogue in any thing else.

modern armies will be that the play spirit and the element of competition will be developed to the utmost. Instead of the work ordinarily performed in the military service under the head of setting-up exercises which it is almost impossible to keep from becoming mechanical and perfunctory, the marines will go at the work in the spirit of a college team training for an important athletic event. Records will be kept of the performances of individuals and organizations and prizes will be awarded for the best individuals and organizations, and for those individuals showing the greatest improvement. Several mornings a week are being devoted by organizations to the work and the spirit of interest and competition is so high that all available space is constantly in use after drill hours by ambitious athletes anxious to put in extra hours of practice. In the development of this form of training the marines feel that they are following the practice of the ancient Greeks, whose devotion to athletic sports from boyhood to old age produced the best developed and most symmetrical physical race which the world has ever seen.

MARKSMEN NOW GETTING SCARCE

Plenty of "Muzzle-Loader" Shots In Mountains, But Paucity of Army Shots.

Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 26.—Sharp shooting Kentuckians are getting scarce, in the opinion of Adjutant General Echols. There still are plenty of "muzzle loader" shots in the mountains, he said, but army shots now a days are hard to find.

It only takes thirteen to compose the civilian team Kentucky expects to send to the National shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, on September 5, the adjutant general declared, but so far he has been unable to obtain sufficient men to organize the team. "And, I have he stated.

The National Guard team of fifteen men is now being formed at Camp Henry Knox through elimination matches. More than forty guardsmen are participating in the qualifying events and the high fifteen will go to Camp Perry for the national matches.

Our objection to decided blondes is they are seldom decided about any thing else.

Let Saving Dollars Do Your Work

Most of us have ambitions of one kind or another, either to get in business for ourselves, own our own home or to have plenty of money so that we won't need to worry over the future. The only way this can be done is to save, and let your dollars do the work.

Every dollar saved earns interest every day. It has no holidays. Then the interest on that dollar begins to earn more interest and before you realize it you have quite a gang of workers that you don't need to worry about "laying-off." Every gratified ambition that amounts to anything starts with a bank account.

We have several plans for your consideration, and will be pleased to offer our advice. Come in today, or any time in the near future so that we may tell you about our methods.

HEATHER.

All my life long I have longed to see heather
In the land of my kinsmen far
Over the sea—
Now here is heather like a wide purple ocean
Rolling its tides toward me.

Dark, dipping waves of it, deeper than amethyst
When the gold day was begun—
Long, curving swells of it, dusky and lovely.
Here on the downs in the sun;

Or in a gray mist, sombre and wonderful,
Like a great twilight outspread
Far over earth that would meet with the heavens
Purple and wild overhead.

Now I am shaken by great storms
of beauty
Wetting my eyelids with joy of my eyes:
Now is my soul like a wind-stricken sea bird Troubling the deep with her cries!

SOUTH SETS PACE IN CONSTRUCTION

From Maryland to Texas New and Important Developments.

Special to Daily News.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 26.—Continuation of industrial expansion and building activity at high levels in the sixteen Southern states is indicated by the publication in the construction columns of the Manufacturers' Record during the first seven months of 1924 of 217 individual items covering all new and important developments in the South from Maryland to Texas. Each month this year has shown increased activity over the corresponding month last year, and in July 1924 items were published at a monthly total never before exceeded.

Compared with the total for the same period last year when the valuation of construction and building contracts awarded broke all previous records, the showing this year is particularly impressive. From January to July 1923, inclusive, the number of construction items published totaled 34,591. Thus in the seven-month period of 1924 the number published in the same period of 1923.

While pig iron production in the United States for the first half of 1924 showed a decrease of 16 per cent compared with the production reported during the first half of 1923, production in the South showed a gain over the last six months in 1923. From January to June, inclusive, the South produced 2,165,189 produced during the last half of 1923.

BEAU BRUMMEL'S MOTTO WAS DRESS

John Barrymore Ably Portrays Dandy's Fondness for Good Clothes—Here Thursday

"Let's be grateful for the thoughtfulness of our Creator in giving us bodies naked, so that we could dress and ornament them as we choose."

A little artificial, this sentiment, eh? Agreed! But not for a soul that is the flower of artificiality, Beau Brummel, to wit, the last word in clothes, and in presenting to the world a smooth sartorial surface.

John Barrymore plays the title role in "Beau Brummel," the screen adaptation of the Clyde Fitch play, coming next Thursday to the Manning theatre. It is a Warner Brothers' Classic of the Screen with an unusual supporting cast, consisting of Mary Astor, Willard Louis, Irene Rich, Alec B. Francis, Carmel Myers and others equally well known.

The Beau is one of the most picturesque, vivid figures of English history. How he won the friendship of Prince of Wales, thus becoming the arbiter of fashion, and how women flocked to him, literally throwing themselves at his feet, and the way the Beau fell from the heights of popularity to disgrace are episodes in this superb Warner Brothers' Classic of the Screen which Harry Beaumont directed.

The Calais of 1800, and the London court life of that period, lives in the picture. Not only that, but there appears in some scene 300 French soldiers, fifty members of the French nobility, 300 noblemen and women and 60 officers of the Tenth Hussars. It is a colorful background for a colorful romance.

NEW LAW FORBIDS TRAFFIC IN ARMS

Abyssinian Prince Prepares New Code Containing Restriction of Traffic.

Associated Press.
GENEVA, Aug. 26.—Prince Tafari-Mekonnen, heir to the throne of Abyssinia, who is expected like Premiers MacDonald, Herriot and Mussolini, to attend the September session of the League of Nations, has forwarded to Geneva a copy of a new Abyssinian code concerning the traffic in arms and ammunition. Some idea of the scrupulous manner in which the North African state intends to meet its league obligations is had from the tenor of the princely communication to Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary-general of the League.

"Peace be with you," the note begins, and then proceeds: "Desirous of observing faithfully the engagements which it entered into on becoming a member of the League of Nations, my government has now issued new and more explicit regulations regarding arms and ammunition. Experience will show whether the provisions in these regulations are adequate; if they are not, it is our intention to amend them when necessary."

The new law consists of an edict and detailed regulations and they forbid all persons to enter or leave Abyssinia if in possession of weapons of war, or to import or export weapons, unless they have previously obtained authorization. Similarly the sale of weapons is prohibited without specific authority, and penalties are provided.

Knoxville Rebate Story Goes Abroad

KNOXVILLE, Aug. 26.—News of the 10 per cent dividend declared by Knoxville's business administration has reached Europe.

John A. Anderson, clerk in the bureau of receipts and disbursements, department of finance, yesterday received a letter from Mrs. Blanche Eblen, who is visiting her husband's relatives in Lafayette, France, stating that she had read of the tax reduction in one of the Paris papers and asking that the refund due her be deposited to her credit in the Union National bank. She enclosed the clipping from the Paris paper. More than a half column had been devoted to the unusual refund.

Mrs. Eblen is the widow of Dr. W. H. Eblen, who was shot and mortally wounded several months ago at Wind Rock by a mountain lion because the doctor, who was ill at the time, would not ride twenty miles on horseback at an early hour in the morning to administer to a brother of the mountain lion. The Eblens had just completed a new home on East Fifth avenue when he was killed. Mrs. Eblen left for France early in July to spend a year with her brother-in-law and his family and had paid her city taxes just before she departed.

RHINOCEROS BUG NEW PEACH FOE

Remedy for Tree Blight Suggested by University Extension Department.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 26.—A new enemy of the peach tree has been discovered in the state by S. Marcovitch, entomologist, Agricultural Experiment Station. During the last week in June a great many of one and two-year old peach trees were found yellowing and in dying condition at Harriman, Tennessee, and on examination the bark below the surface of the ground was found completely girdled by a species of rhinoceros beetle scientifically known as Strategus antaeus. These beetles are large, brownish in color, about 1 1/2 inches in length, and the males are equipped with three large horns on the thorax near the head, somewhat resembling the rhinoceros of the savannas. The females have only one small horn on the thorax. These beetles are closely related to the May beetles and have a white grub stage that lives on the decayed roots of oak trees.

In all cases where injury to the young peach orchards was discovered it was noticed that they were growing on new ground with numerous oak stumps around the trees. Since these beetles are known to breed in decaying oaks leaves and roots, the method of control readily suggests itself to do away with oak stumps growing in the vicinity of peach trees. It would also be advisable for those who have peaches on new ground to watch them closely for injury by this pest, particularly on stumpy land. If the beetles should be found working under ground and girdling the trees, it would be advisable to dig around the trees and gather up the beetles and destroy them, says Mr. Marcovitch.
